Duke University School of Nursing and the Durham VA Medical Center have developed an innovative and unique psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner residency. Certified Psychiatric-Mental Health Nurse Practitioners who are accepted into the program will learn to become specialists in veteran mental health conditions while working with our veterans' diverse health care needs.

While enrolled in the program nurse practitioners will:

- Gain tremendous experience in managing veterans' complex mental health conditions
- Hone critical thinking and diagnostic skills
- Work closely with mentors and interdisciplinary healthcare team within a state-of-the-art medical center
- Be eligible to apply to Duke's Doctor of Nursing Practice Program
- Make meaningful impacts in the lives and well-being of veterans and their families by providing the highest quality mental healthcare
- Have a supportive transition to practice mentorship for new graduates

Eligibility: Graduate of an accredited psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner program (PMHNP), education preparation of a MSN degree or greater and board certified as a PMHNP
